

Want to learn more about the internet? Check out these helpful terms:

A browser is software that allows you to surf the internet. For example, Google Chrome and Safari are browsers.

Data is information that has been stored on a computer.

Download means to copy data from another computer onto yours.

Email is how you send and receive written messages over the internet.

When you click a hyperlink it takes you to another location on the internet.

The internet is a huge network that connects millions of computers so that you can surf them all.

A network is two or more computers that are connected.

A password is a secret word or phrase that allows you to log into a program.

Phishing is when someone makes a fake web page or email to try and steal your data.

Surfing the internet is moving from one web page to another and another and another and...you get the picture.

Software is a set of directions for a computer to follow.

Spam is all the stuff on that internet that you don't want like junk email and pop-ups.

A computer virus is bad software that can harm your computer.

A web page is a computer page on the internet.

Wi-Fi is short for "wireless network". It lets you connect to the internet without using wires or cord.